

FREE Online Training & Certificate in Medical Billing & Coding

One of the Top Ten Hottest Jobs

The U.S. Department of Labor reports that the demand for Medical Billing and Coding professionals remains, and will remain high. North Jersey Partners is offering free online training courses for 300 individuals in Medical Billing and Coding. North Jersey Partners is supporting this effort through a pilot program in conjunction with MEDCOM and Essex County College (ECC). MEDCOM will provide the array of courses and ECC will offer a certificate in Medical Billing and Coding after students complete 10 mandatory online core courses. Students may take an additional 20 free online courses offered by MEDCOM in Medical Billing and Coding.

Medical coders assign codes to specific illnesses, injuries, and medical procedures under a system of coding that is used across the healthcare system, from doctors' offices, hospitals, clinics, home health and nursing home facilities, insurance companies and federal agencies.

Medical Billing and Coding is an excellent career that offers a tremendous amount of growth and flexibility. The majority of medical billers and coders get certified, and some eventually start their own medical billing business from home. This is great career for stay at home moms who are interested in working from home.

All individuals interested in this FREE online training program are required to contact:
Coordinator Gessika Mathieu at Mathie.gessika@gmail.com or Assistant Shanerah Green at Shan.green@yahoo.com or Call (973) 877-1904