

Family Resources

Just as it is important to nurture children's minds, it is important to include parents and families in the children's educational experience. By offering a variety of programs, events and involvement opportunities, parents and families are encouraged to embark on the educational experience alongside the children.

- First Aid/CPR certified teachers
- Parent Advisory Board
- Parent Handbook
- Creative Curriculum, the best curriculum in the industry
- Extracurricular classes
- Nutritious meals/snack included
- A private area for mothers to breastfeed
- A large outdoor playground
- Special visitors, activities, events, and field trips
- Monthly Newsletter
- Parent Involvement: Parents are encouraged to volunteer within the classroom, to chaperone field trips and to join our active Advisory Board.
- Parent Communication: Open communication is an important aspect of successful relationships. The CDC uses multiple avenues to communicate effectively with parents on an ongoing basis. We also encourage parents to communicate with teachers when they have questions, comments, suggestion or concerns.
